

Child Support: December 15, 2015 Deloitte Adroit at Funding Sugar Daddy Greg Abbott

UT computer expert told the House last week that before Accenture became lead contractor on the then-Attorney General Abbott's disastrous child-support software project Deloitte Consulting drafted a hideously complex blueprint for the project that was designed to fail. The state payout to Deloitte for creating that monster ballooned from $1.8 million to $46 million. The overall project has bloated from $202 million to $310 million—and counting.

Incompetent government and incompetent contractors thrive on one another--at our expense. As the Dallas Morning News observed, this contracting malpractice occurred on the watch of then-Attorney General Greg Abbott. Abbott hired Deloitte and Accenture even after their previous state contracting boondoggles. Yet nobody at the legislative hearing on this debacle mentioned Abbott, who has not publicly addressed the fiasco.<sup>1</sup>

Did Deloitte buy Abbott's silence on a lemon contract—or does his silence flow from their mutual incompetence on the software project first proposed in 2007? From 2006 through April 2015, Abbott collected more Deloitte campaign cash than any other politician (flaws in an Ethics Commission software overhaul prevent a systematic analysis of more recent contributions!).

During that period Abbott collected more than $63,000 from Deloitte's PAC and employees (the PAC gave Abbott $2,500 more this summer).<sup>2</sup> As Attorney General Abbott ran for governor in 2014, Deloitte's PAC and four employees adroitly bundled up a total of $26,000 and delivered it to their silent sugar daddy all on the same day. If only Texas Attorney General software could coordinate child-support payments that smoothly.

Itemized Deloitte Contributions to Abbott

CORRECTION: An earlier version of this piece listed an incorrect total for Abbott's same-day Deloitte contributions. As any CPA can tell you, that adds up to $26,000. TPJ regrets the error.

NOTES
