Simmons' Money Predicted Nuclear-Waste Import Votes

"Then Jacob gave Esau bread and pottage of lentiles; and he did eat and drink, and rose up, and went his way: thus Esau despised [his] birthright."—Genesis 25:34

allas billionaire Harold Simmons is one savvy investor. For their most recent campaigns, 92 members of the 150-member Texas House (61 percent) collected a total of $182,350 from Simmons, who has a state-granted monopoly on dumping low-level nuclear waste in Texas. Yesterday, 77 of the members taking Simmons' money (83 percent) voted to let him dump nuclear waste from other states in Andrews County.

Just 11 members who took Simmons money voted against his bill (12 percent) and they included only one of the 17 members who collected $2,500 or more from Simmons. Several members changed their vote today on third reading (see table listing both votes).

Texas politicians say that the campaign funds that they so eagerly solicit have no influence on their votes. If this is true, Simmons showed an uncanny ability to invest in politicians who later did his will. Give the devil his due—as Texas politicians surely do.

Simmons' worst investment was Rep. Pete Gallego of Alpine, who opposed the Simmons bill after collecting $15,000 from the nuclear-waste kingpin.

^{*}Member of House Natural Resources Committee that first approved bill.

This latest Simmons vote broke to a significant degree on partisan lines. Although he is a political pragmatist, Simmons clearly leans toward the GOP in political tithing. During the 2010 election cycle, major candidates and partisan PACs reported receiving more than $1.3 million from Simmons. Republicans got 94 percent of that money; Democrats got 6 percent.

Current House members got $182,350 from Simmons In the last election. He gave 77 percent of that money to 78 of the House's 101 Republicans. Simmons gave the remaining 23 percent of that money to 14 of the House's 49 Democrats.

When it came time to face the music on the Simmons bill, 92 percent of House Republicans voted with their benefactor, compared to 31 percent of House Democrats. •
